Willcox Penitents.

WILLCOX, Nov. 17th, 1885.

EDITOR DAILY TOMBSTONE:—Dear Sir:—J. W. Fleming & Ton Lanon owners of Galena Chief mine in Dos Cabezas District was in town to-day. Mr. Fleming carrying away with him another large gold brick which they have just taken out of their mine; this brick was valued at $2,400; they run it out in 12 days with a 10 stamp mill. They have twelve men at work in the mine and five at the mill. Mr. Fleming stated that the men on the mine take out enough ore to keep the mill running day and night, and that he does not have to put on any more men, and the mine is looking better every day. He says that he can run about sixteen tons through per day, with all ease with the force of men now employed. This mill is now working a great deal better. Mr. Fleming says that the ore after awhile order, will average seventy-five dollars per ton in gold. Jack. (as the boys call him), leaves Willcox with that broad grin on his face, and says, "Boys she is in that mountain and I am going to dig some of it out." Success to you old man, may you become the owner of a million from your mine. W. L. Davis.

A Card.

TOMBSTONE, Nov. 21, 1885.

EDITOR DAILY TOMBSTONE:—Many thanks for the spirit of fairness evinced towards me in your editorial concerning a communication from the pen of Mr. Reilly.

What his object was in writing such trash I cannot conjecture, nor do I care to try; and to take any further notice of his redomontade would be too much beneath my dignity.

Yours truly,

G. C. WILLIS, M. D.

At a special meeting of the board of supervisors held this afternoon the resignation of C. S. Clark as justice of the peace for this precinct was received and accepted, and a petition from the leading citizens of this city and members of the bar asking that the board appoint Judge John C. Easton a justice of the peace in place of C. S. Clark resigned, and on motion Judge Easton was appointed by the board and notified to file his bonds. The selection of Judge Easton reflects great credit upon the board and will be received by our citizens regardless of politics with pleasure. As the judge during a residence in this city of over a year has made himself very popular, and we learn from attorneys who was acquainted with Judge Easton in Texas that he was one of the ablest jurists on the bench in the Lone Star state and had to give up the practice of law in that state on account of becoming nearly deaf. During his residence in this city the judge has regained his hearing and will enter upon the duties of his new office at once, and we know that when his term of office expires, the people will say "well done." Since the above was written Judge Easton filed his bond with G. S. Bradshaw and John H. Slaughter as sureties. The judge will take the docket and books of Judge Clark and be ready for business on Monday.

Resolutions of Respect.

TOMBSTONE, A. T., Nov. 2, 1885. COMMANDER A. L. GROW, BURNSIDE POST, G. A. R.

Your committee appointed to draft suitable resolutions on the death of our comrade John Kehoe, respectfully submit the following:

WHEREAS, It having pleased an all wise and merciful God, to remove by death our late comrade John Kehoe, who was cruelly shot down by an assassin in Bisbee, and laid on bed of pain and suffering, beyond human power to alleviate, and which he bore with the patience and fortitude, so becoming a true soldier.

BE IT RESOLVED, That whilst we bow with submission to the will of the Supreme Commander, we mourn the loss of our comrade, and will cherish his memory for his many virtues and loyalty to his comrades and the flag.

RESOLVED, That the members of this Post in the most profound and sympathetic manner, tender their heartfelt condolence to the bereaved relatives of our comrade John Kehoe.

RESOLVED, That these resolutions be spread upon the records of this Post, as a token of our respect, esteem and sorrow.

GIVE US A REST.

The People Tired of John P. Clum's Personal Epitaph.

EDITOR DAILY TOMBSTONE:—In behalf of a long suffering community, I ask if you cannot devise some way or means to relieve us of the nauseating dose of egotism to which we are treated each morning in the Record-Epigraph. Upon the principle that "blessed is he that tooteth his own horn, otherwise the same shall not be tooted," the people of Tombstone do not object to an occasional column or two of self laudation, on the part of the vain glorious editor of that sheet, but this continued iteration and reiteration of the personal pronouns "I," "Me," "My," "Mine," coupled with disparaging comments on men, the latches of whose shoes the aforesaid Clum, is not worthy to unloose, has sorely tried the patience, and utterly disgusted nine tenths of the readers of the paper. Picking up the Record-Epigraph this and yesterday mornings particularly, what does the reader find? what he is expecting, namely, a brief history of current events, in the nation, territory and city? Not much; on the contrary a couple of tiresome, badly written and worse constructed screeds entitled "Indian History." A perusal of the same, shows that even the titles of the articles are misnomers. Instead of "Indian History" they should read "Indian Agent History," written by a deposed Indian Agent, and published by the Record-Epigraph, for the sole purpose of permitting its editor, the said deposed agent, John P. Clum, an opportunity to gratify his inordinate self esteem at the expense of the patrons of the paper. Can it be that this man Clum, is such an egregious ass, is to imagine that newspaper readers in 1885, have any interest in the history of his brief little official strut at San Carlos ten or twelve years ago. For one I do not believe it. I can credit the statement that his laleness was caused by the excessive friction of his organ of self conceit on the roots of his hair, but it is too much for human credulity, to ask it to believe that Clum really thinks his veal articles interest readers. That the Ex-Indian Agent, long years ago "took" from Geronimo his gun, when the said Geronimo was hemmed in by a cordon of U. S. cavalry who would have wiped him and his tribe from the face of the earth on his refusal to hand it over, is a matter of no interest at present. Nor the supplemental statement that he "kept the gun." Indian agents as is well known, usually kept everything belonging to the Indians, they could get their hands on. If the valiant editor of the Record-Epigraph will go out now and "take the gun" with which Geronimo is murdering our citizens, it would be vastly more to the purpose, then sitting in a newspaper office, and preparing a series of articles intended solely to aid the said editor in his efforts to regain the position of Indian agent at San Carlos. The patrons of the Record-Epigraph are sick of the daily tot dishd out to them, and respectfully suggest to the owner of the paper, that they pay for news, and not nux vomica. N. P. L.

BISBEE.

A Description of the Town and its Mines.

EDITOR DAILY TOMBSTONE:—Your correspondent arrived in Bisbee on Wednesday evening, just as darkness had settled down upon the canyon where the village of Bisbee is built, and a prettier sight than can be seen while coming to the town at this hour can hardly be imagined, for the heavens are illuminated by the fiery mass of slag which is being constantly poured over the dump from the Copper Queen and Prince furnaces.

Upon my arrival I put up with mine host, J. P. Mansfield, the jelly proprietor of the Bisbee House, and after supplying the inner man, set out on a tour of inspection. I learned that Bisbee has a population of 600 or more, and it is neatly and compactly built, although many of the citizens have not wholly recovered from the set back that they received by the disastrous fire that visited Bisbee early in the spring.

We first visited the store of J. Myer Bros, which is a branch of the Tombstone house. They have a very nice store and have it well stocked with clothing, boots, shoes, etc., which they are selling at cost owing to a desire to close out business in that camp.

Mr. M. Crose has a very fine general merchandising store and is doing his full share of business. He also furnishes the town with water which he delivers from a wagon at reasonable rates.

Dr. J. G. Barney, physician of the Copper Queen mine, has a neat little drug store and enjoys a good practice.

Miss Kate Sweeney keeps the town supplied with news matter and fancy notions, and is doing a thriving little business.

J. Goldwater & Co. have a large general merchandise store and do a big business, their principal trade being with merchants from Sonora who annually spend many thousands of dollars.

H. J. Brown, a very pleasant gentleman is also in the general merchandising business and seems to be doing well.

Otto Schroeter is the town jeweler and keeps a good supply of jewelry on hand and is evidently doing a thriving business.

A. J. Kohnert has the bakery of town and supplies the hotels and families with an excellent article of bread every day.

J. P. Preston is the postmaster and also the agent for the L. W. Blinn Lumber Company at this place, and his lumber yard is well supplied with all kinds of building material and mining timbers.

John Curtis is the tonsorial artist of the camp, and keeps down the rough beards of its inhabitants.

F. Pailon is the village shoemaker, and keeps its inhabitants well shod.

Messrs. Taft & Hinke keep a first-class livery stable here, and are noted for their care and attention to horses that are placed in their charge.

The Bisbee Butcher Company, under the management of James Caruthers, furnishes fine beef to the people of Bisbee.

Duffy & Co. also do their share of the butcher business, and there is hardly a place in the Territory that can show finer beef than they are selling to their customers.

Miss Erickson runs a first-class restaurant, and the hungry traveler can here find good meals and polite attention.

Maguire Bayle has also a popular restaurant, and is one of those jolly landlords that are always popular and consequently does a rushing business.

Mrs. Chester, an old resident of Tombstone, is keeping a first-class restaurant and lodging house, and is doing her share of business.

Mrs. Louthier keeps the American lodging house, which is a very popular place with visitors to the town.

The Bisbee House, conducted by J. P. Mansfield, is a deservedly popular hotel, and Mansfield's success is largely due to the assistance that is afforded him by his amiable wife.

Dr. J. C. Preston is physician to the Copper Queen mine, and is a very pleasant gentleman, and enjoying a good practice, but the health giving air in this section makes a doctor a useless commodity.

Dr. Burgess attends to the teeth of the people of this village, and has been very successful.

Henry Dubacher is the proprietor of the Bisbee brewery, and as a manufacturer of beer is a decided success, as his beer is said by those who profess to know, to be equal, if not superior, to any imported article.

E. G. Norton is constable and deputy sheriff of this village, and the very few arrests that are made here speak well for the peace of the town, and for him as an officer. He is also the proprietor of one of the most popular saloons in the village.

W. H. Ramsey, who everybody knows and likes, is running the saloon formerly conducted by the late Bill Daniels. Murty Long, late of Tombstone, is his barkeeper, and the saloon is a popular resort of Tombstoners when they visit Bisbee.

Messrs. Rafferty & Co. have a fine saloon here, and as old boy Raff is decidedly popular, he is doing a good business.

Sol Pierce, an old Tombstoner, is also running a saloon in this city, and is doing a nice business.

Messrs. Clark & Dunn are also engaged in the saloon business, and are very popular with the miners.

The above list embraces the principal business houses of the village, and speaks well for the prosperity of the camp.

ARIZONA PRINCE.

Upon the evening of my arrival I called upon Capt. Heyne, superintendent of the Arizona Prince, who is a very popular man in Bisbee, and was shown everything of interest about the mine. The company recently erected a 30-ton copper smelter, which at the present time is turning out about seven or eight tons of copper bullion per day. The hoisting works are situated about 200 feet distant from the smelter, and the ore is carried in cars to ore chutes above the smelter, and thence through the chutes to the feeding room, where it is weighed and fed into the capacious maw of the smelter. A well graded road also has been built to a point above the smelter, where coke chutes are erected, and when a team arrives with coke it is shoveled into the chute and is then at hand in the feeding room ready for use without further handling. They have a well about 60 feet deep, which furnishes all the water necessary. Pumps have been erected at the well and the water is pumped up to a tank on the hill that has a capacity of 50,000 gallons, and then carried to the smelter in pipes, where it is used, and then carried through pipes to three large troughs, where it is cooled off, and then carried back into the well again.

Down below the works is the assay office of the company, under the management of Fred Heyne, and is the most complete assaying establishment I have ever seen. All copper assays are made by electricity. Lack of space prevents a further description of this mine, which gives employment to about seventy-five men, but I would be unworthy did I not return thanks to Capt. Heyne and his son Fred for the many courtesies shown me by them.

We next visited the Copper Queen Consolidated Mining Co.'s works, under the superintendency of that hale fellow and gentleman, Mr. Ben Williams. This mine has a large hoisting works above their smelters, which consist of two 30-ton smelters, in which they are working about 100 tons of ore per day. The ore now being worked is low grade, but has to be worked off in order to make room. This mine employs about 175 men, and presents a very animated appearance. This mine, like the Prince, has every convenience, and is a paying institution. We did not have a chance to learn as much about this mine as we desired, owing to the fact that Superintendent Ben Williams had to visit Tombstone will I was here, and Louis Williams has no idle moments to spare. One hundred tons of ore is worked in these smelters, and 300 tons of copper bullion is produced monthly and shipped to New York. About 400 tons of coke is used per month in smelting the ores.

NEW YORK.

This mine is situated about one mile east of the Queen, and is owned by the Hon. J. F. Duncan, and is one of the likeliest prospects in the camp. There are two shafts on this mine, one down 30 feet and another 50 feet, both in reach of ore; there are also several prospect holes, and they are all in ore. He is not doing any work upon this mine at present, as he expects to sell it shortly, or else form a company and put up smelters for the reduction of his ore.

NEPTUNE MINE.

The Lookout mine, which is one of the Neptune properties, and has been leased to some parties who are now working on it, the main shaft being down 140 feet and about 200 feet o er-ascending done. A few days ago a rich vein of ore was struck in this mine, and it will soon be hoisted in the ranks of the bullion producing mines of Cochise county.

No work is being done at present on the Neptune and Uncle Sam mines, which are a portion of the Neptune properties.

HOLBROOK PROPERTIES.

These mines are not being worked at present, owing to the low price of copper, but they have some very fine bodies of ore, which will be converted into bullion just as soon as the price of copper justifies the erection of a smelter. The company have erected a very fine hoisting works, and will be ready to work as soon as the demand for copper increases its value.

THE EAST LODE.

This mine is owned by R. P. Stevens, and is situated about 1500 feet east of the Copper Queen, and has about 600 feet of work done on it at present, with every indication of being a good mine, but there has not been work enough done upon it yet to determine what they have got.

About one mile from town Company I, 4th cavalry, are stationed. I visited this camp and found Lieutenant Jenkins in command. The Lieutenant is an old friend and acquaintance of mine whom I had not seen for several years, and he made my visit to his camp very pleasant. He has 66 men in his command and five Indian scouts, and he is keeping a regular patrol of the border both night and day. Dr. Andrews is also stationed at this point, and is the same genial gentleman here that he is when he is at his quarters at Fort Huachuca. This company all ride white horses, and present a handsome appearance when in the saddle.

Lieutenant Jenkins and Dr. Andrews are both well liked in Bisbee and are always ready to start out at a moment's notice to move in defense of the settlers.

Other items of interest here I will defer writing at this time as I think this letter is sufficiently long now.

JOHN W. CONWELL.

There will be a special meeting of King Solomon Lodge, No. 5, F. & A. M., to-morrow (Sunday) at 1:30 p. m., for the purpose of attending the funeral of deceased brother George W.
